Dogs Of The Conquest

Dogs have been used in warfare by many civilizations. As warfare has progressed, their purposes have changed greatly. Mid-seventh century BC: In the war waged by the Ephesians against Magnesia on the Maeander, their horsemen were each accompanied by a war dog and a spear-bearing attendant.Dogs were released first and broke the enemy ranks, followed by an assault of spears, then a cavalry charge.

The conquistadors were professional warriors, using Old World tactics, short-swords, and cavalry. A few also had crude firearms known as Arquebus.Their units (compañia) would often specialize in forms of combat that required long periods of training that were too costly for informal groups.Their armies were mostly composed of Spanish, as well as soldiers from other parts of Europe and Africa.
